A “Community of Practice” is a group of individuals with similar roles and responsibilities coming together to share ideas and best practices. We will spend our time discussing important topics and strategizing around solutions. These meetings are a time for principals to connect and build relationships with other principals while increasing capacity to improve practice. We will collaboratively determine topics of interest and need for the cohort during our first meeting.

Target Audience: K-12 Principals

Facilitator: Chris Streiff Oji, MS, EdS

Chris is a former principal at the elementary and secondary level and led Staff Development and Continuous Improvement at the District level. She developed the FISH! For Schools Curriculum and consulted with school districts across the U.S. to improve culture and climate in schools.
